Office Hours:

Monday – 9-5 Thursday – 9-3

Course Description: This course is designed to provide students with the fundamental skills needed to guide a group of individuals in a backcountry environment. Throughout the semester students will develop their technical skills, group management techniques, risk assessment tools, and much more. Course material will focus on current theories and

- 2. Students will not represent the work of others as their own. A student will attribute the source of information not original with himself or herself (direct quotes or paraphrases) in compositions, theses, and other reports.
- 3. No work submitted for one course may be submitted for credit in another course without the explicit approval of both instructors.

Feedback, De-briefing, and Assessment measures

Students will receive many forms of feedback, constructive criticism and assessment. There will be one-on-one meetings with the instructor throughout the semester. The rubrics are designed to show your strengths and weaknesses. Student will never receive a grade without an explanation on how to improve. Assessment is a two-way street, please feel free to provide me constructive criticism.

Students with disabilities

The Office of Disability Services implements the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and insures that UAF students have equal access to the campus and course materials. I will work with the Office of Disabilities Services (203 WHIT, 474-7043) to provide reasonable accommodation to students with disabilities. Please inform me of any disabilities during the first two weeks of class.
